Which parent(s)/ legal guardian(s) has the legal authority to consent to treatment?

Please check box most appropriate:

- Both Legal Parents/Guardians have authority to consent to treatment.
- If the biological or legally adopted parents are currently separated or going through the divorce process, the parent presenting child for treatment will have to sign a release for the other parent or guardian before the child can be treated
- Divorce, Custody or Legal Issues: There is an official certified divorce decree or a legal custody order that indicates that only one parent is legally permitted to determine and decide on mental health treatment of the child without the consent of the other parent.
- The parent presenting child for treatment has no access to other parent due to the following reasons (death, in prison, missing, has left and made no contact, etc...) and therefore will acknowledge that they are the sole primary care taker of the child for mental health treatment and will bare all responsibility for such consent.

I affirm that I have the authority to make mental health care decisions for my child and am aware that all custodial parents and legal guardians have the authority to consent to treatment and obtain records. I have provided the clinic with a certified or legal copy of the divorce or custody decree that indicates that I have the authority to make any and all decisions in regards to my child's mental health treatment or I have signed a Release of Information to my child's other custodial parent or legal guardian. I acknowledge that the other parent or guardian may need to be notified if they have rights to mental health information and it is my responsibility to notify the other parent according to the legal case. I further acknowledge and agree that it is ultimately my responsibility to make sure that I am following all legal conditions set forth by my divorce decree, separation agreements, etc. I acknowledge that Taft Counseling Center is requesting any and all related documents for the benefit of my child and therefore release any liability to Taft Counseling Center, any of its providers, office staff, and/or affiliates resulting from a dispute to this authorization.

- I have provided a copy of the official custody agreement.
- I did not provide a copy of the official custody agreement and release information to _____ (other parent or guardian)
